MEMORIUM

In bright or brighter places, wheresoever
ye may roam —

Ye look away from earth-land and ye murmur,
"Where is home?"

Homeless hearts, God is home.

ADMINISTRATION

M. Lynn Bennion

Superintendent

Lawrence Schroder

Assistant Superintendent

Marian G. Merkley

Assistant Superintendent

Ralph V. Backman

Principal

To be principal of the largest student body in a Utah high school is indeed a great responsibility, and Mr. Backman has accepted the challenge with a cool head, steady nerves, and sense of fair play. He has instilled in his associates and subordinates a desire for cooperation at all times. His ability for creating unity in thought and action has continued from September to June, and will carry over in the years to come.

Winifred H. Dyer

Assistant Principal

Possessing a quick step, a keen intellect, efficient hands, and a business-like manner, Miss Dyer is equipped to carry on her extensive duties as supervisor of student activities — clubs, student government, social functions, assemblies — and curriculum advisor. It is her vast power of comprehension as to student needs, coupled with careful forethought, which yields wise counseling in the form of firm, precise decisions to uphold South's democratic principles.

Lucille Monay

Counselor

From September to June, for many years now our Miss Monay has unselfishly given her time in the interest of teen-age problems. In case of wrong-doing, she more often than not has substituted a friendly smile and an understanding solution instead of a much deserved scolding and tongue lashing. Thanks, Miss Monay, for helping to make remembrances of student life pleasant.

Dr. Doug Williams

Counselor

Smooth — yes, smooth — is the word to describe South's Vocational Counselor, Dr. Doug Williams. His knowledge, genuine interest, and understanding of the student make it possible for him to guide, influence, and mould the future of many a Southerner. Doug's general character, his dignity of bearing, his warm, subtle friendliness to anyone and everyone is an example of fineness which every Southerner looks up to and strives to attain.

C. Dewey Hale

Dean of Students

"Resin on the bow and away we go" — that's our dance-minded Dean of Students. He's a good Joe, ready with a helping hand wherever it is needed, and no "square" even though he likes to dance. His first thoughts are always of us and South. He has gained the admiration of his fellow workers and the student body. His astounding ability and sparkling personality have been very important in helping us to develop our decisions for the bumpy road ahead.

Walter Stevens

Treasurer

Amiable Mr. Stevens, alias "the money man," maintains the responsibility of guarding and balancing the finances of this school. With a calm, placid air he balances books, fills out requisitions, and literally handles thousands of dollars in the students' behalf. South is fortunate in having such a personage. Our thanks to you, Mr. Stevens.

Night life for the faculty at South High

Office Staff

Remember the informative bulletin read each advisory period? It was the office staff to whom we were indebted for this service. Other duties, such as checking absences, filing grade cards, and oiling the wheels that keep South High in motion from September to June were carried out by these highly efficient people. Our appreciation goes to them for a "top drawer" school year.

Custodians

Their work to make our school a better place in which to live is not often taken into consideration. Pleasant, good natured, always ready to help, are our custodians. Their tireless mopping up after thoughtless students is a thankless job. They have made South High a much cleaner place in which to spend the days from September to June.

Jake Vanderhyde

Gene Parker

Nickolas Vanderstel

Morgan Jenkins

Cafeteria

The appetizing aroma of the nourishing meals prepared by our cafeteria staff beckons us to try the wholesome and well-balanced dishes for lunch-time pleasure.

Stage Crew

The men behind the scenes who prepare stage settings, are not often given much recognition. Their work is long and tedious, deserving of appreciation. Thanks to them for co-ordinating our assemblies

The boys of the library staff were on hand to help the librarians and the student body if they were called upon. Their help is greatly appreciated

The formula for finding a book isn't hard when you know that you have two very capable librarians looking out for you. Their index-minds work rapidly in locating the information we once thought was impossible to find. They surely rate tops with the student body

Mrs. Sims and Miss Gostes, Librarians

The girls staff of the library gave of their time freely and unselfishly that we might be aided in our library work.

Lynn Wallace

Student Body President

It seems that 'Wally' is just about the friendliest, happiest, and proudest student at South High School. He's friendly by nature, always ready with a smiling greeting and a helping hand. His happiness came from leading the Cubs through a successful school year all the way from its beginning in September until the last diploma was handed out in June. And he was proud all right — proud of being President of South High School, in our estimation, the best school in the world. South High students, in turn, were proud of having Lynn as their school prexy.

GEORGE PAULSON

'George did it' He gave South eventful good times that will remain in our memories for years to come

BILL FARLEY

Farley, of football, basketball, and track fame, was South's vigorous, first vice-president. His A+ plus personality and congenial manner made him a friend to every Southerner.

BOBBIE McKEAN

Shining eyes, scintillating smiles, and a warm hello, are all typical of South's secretary and only female representative of the student body officers, Bobbie McKean.

MILTON BISSEGER

From September to June there has grown a deep respect for Milt. He has been more than a historian of our school.

The House of Delegates is a vital part of South's representative government. Composed of the president of each advisory class, it meets with the Board of Control to discuss the problems of the student body as a whole. In the advisory period on the next morning, each student is notified of the decisions made. It is through the functions of this group that each student has a say in the government.

Every activity carried on in South High springs from the Board of Control. Nothing is decided without their approval. The Board is composed of student body officers elected by students, and in voting and suggesting plans, they express the desires of the whole student body. Theirs is a difficult task, and more often they receive criticism than praise. Now we would like to express our sincere gratitude to them for giving us such student-life remembrances as school dances, assemblies, publications, and sports activities.

Glorious days to look back on — the fun we've had, the friends we've met and things we've done in the year 1951 — the Barnival, the lilting melodies of the Girls' Dance, Fun Night, Cadet Hop, Dress-Up-Day, Pal Night. Memories — the smiles, the flying colors, the zest and enthusiasm that have made this year so striking and colorful. Altogether there are seventeen committees that mapped out an unforgettable year for us.

Mrs. Durning and her student helpers have accomplished the practically impossible in a very busy department of our school. Mrs. Durning's willing attitude and helping hand made our association with her a pleasure, and her ready wit and pleasing manner gave the bookstore a cheerful atmosphere. The job of selling school supplies, keeping track of lost articles, and checking our books is very exacting, and Mrs. Durning and her staff are to be complimented on their achievements.

"What! no cancellation tickets?"

"Pie a la face."

For a second year now, the combined charities drive was climaxed by a battle of the sexes. The end result was "Dog House Day." The female population of South High were the ones in the "Dog House." Boys, as supreme victors, were very ingenious in dreaming up penalties and seemed to possess no sympathy whatsoever for the underdogs.

"Pistol packin' mamma!"

Nature boys — in reverse.

"And if you ask me . . ."

Suicide pact after Chem. exam.

Christmas spirit reigns supreme.

Christmas parties — joyous and yummy.

Roger! How could you.

Where's Miss Dyer ?

CLASSES

This was it! The big year!! The long awaited year of fulfillment!! And to the seniors, every ordinary activity brought heartfelt enjoyment and something unexplainably sentimental. They participated to the utmost in their last high school football game, the last Barnival, the last school play that would be actually a part of them. After June, they would be on the outside, looking in on South High activities. From September to June brought nine short months of their hallowed senior year, for somehow, September just melted right into June. It was only when the last precious days of May had passed that they began to realize how much South meant to them and what a big chunk of their hearts would be left inside her walls. Because this year was so important to them, the seniors were very particular in their choice of class leaders. They chose sincere Bill Fogg as president, Ruth Sidwell with her sunshine smile as vice-president, and cool-headed Jackie Jacobsen as secretary. These capable leaders proved that the choice of the senior class was a commendable one.

Between the timid sophomores and the important seniors are the members of the junior class. It is they who will prepare themselves to "take over" in the path of the graduates. With the completion of school work in June, they will become the new leaders of South High. Dennis Vitale was chosen as the junior president, with Bruce Lake Vice President, and Laraine Clayson Secretary.

September . . . with the thrill of becoming a part of high school activities . . . new friends, classes, surroundings . . . brought a tingling, adventurous spirit to the sophomores. The months have brought experiences long to be cherished. The sophomores chose Reid Hilton as their president to insure them of a lively, fun-filled year. To assist him in representing the sophomore class they elected Maurine Christensen Vice President and Dorothy Waterman Secretary.

SOCIALS

The first big formal event of the year was the Girls' Dance, "June in January." No one will ever forget how unique and gorgeous were the decorations. Thousands of artificial flowers — aqua, pink, and purple — hundreds of summer green streamers, and an orchestra complete with violins transformed the crisp January atmosphere to that of a beautiful night in June. Masses of streamers and roses formed a pillar-like effect in the center of the floor, around which the orchestra was seated. Visions of loveliness swirled and whirled beneath garlands of roses, which sprayed out everywhere from the center mass. For a final touch, flowers were used to decorate the walls with the theme words "June" and "January." Congratulations go to Chairman Bobbie McKean and her hard-working, industrious committee for the ingenuity and originality they displayed in making this event one of the highlights of the school year.

"Oh, look! We've only one thousand six hundred forty-three more roses to go!"

Flashing smiles were worn by all who passed through the archway into the dreamy atmosphere of "June in January."

"Tired feet and aching arches."

BARNIVAL

Movies, booths, games, prizes, dancing, and last but not least, food provided the activity for anyone and everyone at this year's Barnival. Bright plaid shirts and levis were the fashion as informality reigned as king

Such places as the fortune-telling booth, the hog-calling contest, and the hitching-post (Ah! At last I've got my man!) opened the evening's excitement and hilarity. Next came the door-prize drawings. Plump, tender turkeys, and spicy hams caused exclamations of joy, coupled with the moans and groans of the oh-so-close winners. Zestful "kickapoo" juice and hot dogs satisfied hungry Southerners as they dashed on their way to the gyms for social and square dancing.

The theme of the dance was "King for a Night," and the assembly featured Fathers as contestants. Why wouldn't Dads be Kings with South High Princesses on their arms

A feeling of pride predominated as the girls dated their most "steady" boyfriend for the traditional Fathers' and Daughters' Dance. Daughters were proud of their fathers, and the fathers were equally as proud of their daughters.

THE ARTS

Mr. Armont Willardsen

The art of teaching music appreciation is not all vocal ability. One must possess an uncanny knack for interpreting music through melody, words, and action. Action, the most forceful and lasting of these three talents, illustrates the mood of a piece more perfectly.

More than a teacher, more than a vocal director, Mr. Willardsen is the perfect example of an outstanding person whom all South High has grown to love and respect.

In interpreting music to his classes Mr. Willardsen uses the motto, "Actions speak louder than words." As a result, he can boast of top-ranking vocal groups. His genial personality provides the incentive for classes to strive harder toward perfection.

Plato said, "Music to the mind is as air to the body." It is amazing how many different reactions can be obtained from a single piece of music. A person does not need to be an expert to appreciate music. He needs only to open his heart and soul to the melody's inspirational message, then he cannot help being a music lover.

Working as a new member of South High's faculty was the band's director, Mr. Douglas Liston. When hearing a performance, one could readily see the profits of the hours of time and effort that he and his students invested in rehearsals. Our thanks to you and your organization, Mr. Liston, for a job well done.

Adding just the proper amount of color to all our school games and activities was the smartly-clad organization known as the South High Band. Their uniforms of brilliant blue and gleaming white, coupled with the flashing gold of the instruments, made them a sight to gladden the eye and quicken the spirit.

The orchestra with its stirring melodies of strings, wind and percussion instruments gave us many musical treats from September to June. These rhythm makers of South were an inspiration to all who heard their clever arrangements and smooth music. Mr Liston, our new music director of outstanding character and musical ability, has made a name for himself at South.

Junior Choir

A vital organization in helping to maintain South's reputation of vocal supremacy was the Junior Choir. It is from this group that the major portion of students are taken to compose next year's A'Cappella Choir. Just to listen to a rendition of their repertoire speaks well for the excellency of our future A'Cappella.

The A'Cappella Choir under the direction of Mr. Armont Willardsen is more than just a choral group. It is a superior organization of specially selected and trained voices blended and perfected by practice. Our South High Choir is, without doubt, the outstanding group of its kind in the city. We should all be proud of the reputation the A'Capella has established, it has added prestige to the "South High glory." The Choir has performed upon request before distinguished audiences everywhere. The student body congratulates these vocalists, and doubly congratulates Mr. Willardsen for his usual superior directing.

High, clear sopranos and warm, mellow altos plus rich full bass voices are only part of the ingredients used to produce the resonant, vibrant tone qualities heard echoing from the music room third period every day. Working under the direction of the one and only Mr. Willardsen, these young voices receive the vital training necessary to reach maturity without straining or depleting their potentialities. They learn the essence of harmony and synchronization, the beauty of the rise and fall of lilting voices, the feel of a rhythmical flowing cadence, the appreciation of music — one of the most ancient of arts. It is such groups as this, working and singing together, which have maintained the quality of South's musical department.

"The Divine Flora" talked her way right into the hearts of our student body during her performance in December. South High has always had a reputation for superior performances, and our 1951 school play upheld all traditions. Mrs. Reid's choice for the cast was perfect because they all lived their parts vividly. Mrs. Reid, director, Carolyn Burke, student director, and Judith Manwill, property manager receive a well-deserved toast from the 1952 "Southerner" as well as from the entire student body.

Sharon sulks as Flora receives sly glances from the Coaches

Nate Long, South's popular "thinclad" coach, is truly a maker of champions. Nate, a past Olympic contender himself, turns out a state championship crew of speedsters more often than not, and he has certainly molded a successful group this year. "Southerner", '52 style, toasts an outstanding competitor and coach.

Genial Jimmy Gilbert, the Cubs' diamond mentor, is probably the most popular coach in the state with players, student body, and opponents alike. Through his droll wit, Jimmy has won the respect of player and rival, yet he drives the boys to championship after championship. May Jimmy's Cubs maintain their supremacy!

1951-52 Coach Graves' second year in Cubville saw instilled in his proteges a deep respect for the smiling genial pigskin mentor, skipper of South's hard-hitting gridironers. Bob also coaches field events for Nate Long's "thinclad" clan. Bob is admirably suited to this hard schedule, for he is always in top condition.

Willard "Bill" Knibbe is a brilliant new addition to South's galaxy of coaching stars. Mentor Knibbe's classy cagers battled into second place in the Big Eight and contended for top honors in the state tourney. A hard worker, Bill expects his athletes to work hard too. Keep on fighting, Knibbe!

Have you ever wondered how our teams get the right equipment at the right time? "Easy does it"—the managers, of course—the "forgotten" men on the squad. But they don't forget. It is their responsibility to keep all equipment in usable and safe condition, to boost the morale of the boys, to lighten the burden of the coaches. They're Johnny-on-the-spot all the time. More power to you, fellows!

Our efficient managers are Raymond Jones, Keith Hottinger, Al Hansen.

The South High Cubs, under the able leadership of Bob Graves had a successful football season as far as excitement and thrills are concerned. Though they didn't place high in the "Big Eight" conference, they showed plenty of enthusiasm for the rugged game of football. The team used a new formation, the single wing off the T. The boys and the coach proved this an effective attack, which gave all their opponents a very tough fight, bringing defeat in many cases

School spirit high! Enthusiasm almost out of bounds! Hats off to the cheerleaders who really pepped the student body to an all time high. They'll tell you it is neither an easy nor a pleasant job to supervise cheering when there is no response from the bleachers. Once this spirit was implanted in the students, however, it remained there all all year because of our live wire cheerleaders. Not only was the student body proud of its pep organization, but the athletic teams were greatly appreciative of its continued support.

Donna Mae Hill, Diane Rigney, and Donna Reeder, dancers, Ken Sterzer, Bob Lloyd, Leonard Hupp, Doyle Hedgepeth, Clyde Kirk, Johnny Packard, and Mittzi Oleson, tumblers, Frank Shamy, Jay Ehlers, Frank Allen, Mary Alice Smith, Cathy Webb, Bob Lloyd, Ken Sterzer, Leonard Hupp, Doyle Hedgepeth, Barbara Ellertson, and Claudia Hubbard, cheerleaders.

Nate Long's J. V. Team, our future A Team, sharpened their claws on Big Eight rivals in preparation for the slaughter next year.

The Cubs really wowed Big Eight fans in a display of basketball pyrotechnics that made every scribe in the state take notice. The Rebels were led in their conquest by sharpshooters Bill Maxwell, Gaylan Moffit, and Fred Brunner, rebounder Bill Green, and all-around cool player, Bill Boam. Genuine persistence here, huh!

South's battling Cubs, shown here in scenes from their hard-fought league games, managed to brush aside their mediocre opponents and rise to basketball fame. Led by wise Bill Knibbe, a newcomer to the prep ranks, they bowled aside lesser teams on their road to the state tourney

Smooth muscles working in perfect co-ordination make champs of South's thin clad crew. But how many people realize the countless hours of training necessary to compete in only one event? In track, more so than in any other sport, incessant training is necessary

In track, a bad start, or poor judgment in hurdling stride or a slip of the finger on the discus means all the difference between winning and losing. Congratulations, Nate, to you and your boys for upholding South's traditions

RELAY

Displaying teamwork at its finest, once again, South's championship relay team tramples its opposition under its cleats. Sam Oliver, Lynn Wallace, Martin Seifert, Ronald Prince

SPRINTERS

Speed at its utmost is displayed by Cubville's sprinters as they once again battle for top honors in the state. Dick Martin, Lynn Wallace, James Green, Ray Hansen, Milton Bissegger, Dale Elton, Kenneth Smith, Larry Hardy, Grant Haycock, Lowell Wilson, Ronald Prince, Sam Oliver, Roger Bartlett, Sam Kiniry

DISTANCE

With long, distance-covering strides and with stamina to spare, Nate's distance men have proved themselves true champions. Roger Henschke, Ronald Oakey, Alan Coombs, Bill Farley, Kenneth Swain, James Johnson, Jim Mancuso, Ronald Taylor, Martin Seifert, Garry Riddle, Keith Hottinger, John Buchanan, Ronald Gee, Kay Curtis

HURDLERS

JUMPERS

A relaxed approach, a sudden outburst of nerves and energy, and once again South's ace jumpers have won their event. Duane Bishop, Mike Moore, Wendell Sowby, Noel Robertson, George Peterson, Bill Boam, Tom Jones, Lindon Webb, Donald Evans

WEIGHT

With every fiber and sinew of their mighty bodies straining, Bob Graves' muscular weight men force their way to new heights. Nick Paloukos, Tom Moore, Gary Neeleman, Curt Jenson, Louis Pearce, Nuss Sorenson, Kent Bales, Dick Pullan, Charles Wideman, Keith Featherstone, George Hutchings

"The Tiniest Star," presented by the combined efforts of the girls' gym, speech, art, and music departments, was a Christmas story in dance fantasy. Everyone will always remember the dearly-loved, lopsided, awkward, eager-to-help "tiny star," Nancy Brewster, whose versatility made her a favorite with all the student body

The brilliance of the war dancers — Mars and her satellites — created color and vividness for the general production. Peace and calm reigned as Polaris with the Big Dipper and Venus with the "crescent cradle of the moon" lulled the "tiny star" to sleep. Another never-to-be-forgotten scene was the gorgeous, exquisite, awe-inspiring Milky-Way setting with the ballet dancers — the Seven Sisters

Congratulations go to Mr. Vigos who wrote the manuscript and staged the production, to Mrs. Wiggington, Miss Sleater, and Mrs. Jensen, dances, to Miss Harvey, narrators, to Mrs. Jerrell, Mr. Liston, Mr. Willardsen, music, to Mr. Harwood, lighting and staging, and Miss Taylor, art. It was an unusual and beautiful production

One of the biggest dances of the year was the Sabre Symphony, the night when cadets reap the reward of one year's work. Magnificent decorations of red, white, and blue gave a military touch to the atmosphere. Suspended from the ceiling was a gigantic, tremendous flag made of balloons. Streamers and a bowl-shaped backdrop for one orchestra completed the decorations. The releasing of the masses of balloons created a grand climax to the beautiful evening.

PUBLICATION

HAYWARD ROBERTSON

Clear-thinking, sensible Hayward, the business man . . . cooperative, considerate Hayward, the friend . . . through skillful use of both of these attributes, the capable editor of the SCRIBE put out an outstanding newspaper. Only because of such efficient leadership were Southerners able to boast of the superior publication compiled by the 1951-1952 SCRIBE staff

What of school activities? Who's doing what, why, and where? Thanks to the Scribe staff and their noses for news, Cubs were kept up-to-date on all functions. "Scribes will be distributed Friday," echoed through the halls many times between September and June, and every time it brought a new feeling of anticipation. The 1952 Southerner salutes the Scribe staff, its sponsor, and its many contributors

JEANETTE BOYACK

With a sunny smile, a reassuring word, and a helpful suggestion Jeanette guided the Scribe staff through an excellent year. As Associate Editor, she successfully performed her part of the editorial responsibilities. Not often is an editorial staff composed of two such talented and capable people as Hayward and Jeanette. It is little wonder that the product of their endeavor was so outstanding in every way

MR. WISAN

The friendly guidance with which Mr. Richard Wisan supervised Scribe activities was the reason for his extreme popularity with staff members. When a firm hand was needed, he did not hesitate to use it, but for the most part, his guidance was confined to offering helpful advice. Tops with his students, tops with the staff, Mr. Wisan is an inspiration to all the young people with whom he comes in contact

These people with a nose for news — SCRIBE people we mean — are the ones who are constantly advertising the integrity and loyalty of South High Cubs. These are our press agents — the busiest people we know

A superior group of young people who worked hard to compile this year's outstanding literary achievements made up the Highlights' Staff. Poetry, essays, short stories—new and different every year—these "brain-children" of South High's literati made interesting reading

Only top-flight material was chosen by the conscientious editors, who read and re-read the papers turned in from the various classes, to select for Cub readers the very best

Miss Dalby, sponsor of the 1951-1952 Highlights, has given her time and supervision freely to help the hard working staff compile the literary achievements of Cubs and Cubettes. Her wonderful advice and creative ability have made this year's Highlights a treasure.

EDITOR RONALD LUNDEBERG

Blonde Ron Lundeborg was the quiet, calm, good natured editor of this, the '51-'52 SOUTHERNER. Many a time when everyone was so tired and exhausted that tempers were at the breaking point, Ron's humor and wit saved the situation. Ron's artistic talent and good taste are very much in evidence as you glance through these pages. Sincere thanks and appreciation go to Ron from the staff, sponsors, students, and administration for this successful publication.

ASSOCIATE EDITOR PATSY HALE

Bright-eyed, smiling, strawberry blonde Patsy Hale served as Associate Editor of this edition. Her tact, grace, and general charm in handling awkward situations made her the favorite of all the staff. Working early in the morning, late at night, efficiently and swiftly, she has done more than her share in making this year's SOUTHERNER the beautiful and well-designed publication that it is. Our gratitude to you, Patsy, for just being you.

"Where is the tissue? Get the layout ready! Stamp this picture, hurry please! Someone locate the tear sheets and copy!" Such were the sounds heard flying through the air if anyone just happened to "drop in" to the SOUTHERNER office during the year. Fast and sharp came the commands, long and tiring were the hours spent to produce this book. Time, the endless time, it took to prepare the dummy copy, color schemes, spot designs, general copy, tear sheets, layouts, pictures, and index. Time was of the essence during those last frantic, hectic days when it was necessary to work all day every day under tension and strain to meet a deadline. But "it's all over now." In spite of everything and anything, the staff came through as usual, and another edition of the Southerner is finished — completed — in the hands of the students. May you receive as much pleasure and enjoyment from its pages as we, the staff, had in compiling it for you.

Sponsors for this edition of the SOUTHERNER have been Miss Martha Schroeder, Mr. Jimmy Harwood, Mrs. Alice Sehee, Mr. George Maack, Mrs. Garnet Pearson, and Mr. Walter Stevens. Without them . . . well, there just wouldn't have been any SOUTHERNER. The demands upon them have been many and varied. How lost we would have been if Miss Schroeder hadn't guided the selling and distribution work, if Mr. Harwood hadn't taken care of the endless pictures and countless enlargements, if Mrs. Sehee hadn't supervised the advertising, if Mr. Maack hadn't added the touch of finesse necessary to our art and layout work to our book, if Mrs. Pearson hadn't put some sparkle into our copy, or if Mr. Stevens hadn't supplied the money and bookkeeping so vitally needed by a yearbook such as ours. Only through their patient supervision has this book been made possible. Sponsors — bless them — are about the most wonderful people in the world!

BUSINESS STAFF

The business staff of the yearbook worked very industriously to see that every yearbook was delivered and accounted for. Many thanks go to this excellent staff for the efficiency with which they carried out their technical work. Nola Goff and Barbara Larsen, not pictured.

In presenting this, the "51-52" Southerner, to you we hope it has captured a few of the cherished memories of South High. With the end of school we seniors look forward to the future, although we long to stay in the midst of the friendly excitement of high school. We are proud to say we are Southerners and as we leave we hope the sophomores and juniors will carry on South's spirit and traditions. The never-to-be-forgotten memories of school — the friendly atmosphere of spacious halls, the eager anticipation for Scribe, the noisy din of the cafeteria, the friends and teachers in the next class, the entertaining assemblies, and the cool breeze wafting over the soft green lawn, and last but not least, the reverence of commencement — all these will remain deep in our hearts. I can never really express the appreciation I have for having had the privilege of associating and working with Patsy Hale, my associate editor. Her cooperation and tolerance were unbelievable. When things weren't going just right, Patsy was always there with a smile and a helping hand, both early in the morning and late at night. Thanks and appreciation go to my hard-working staff who have contributed to the finished product, The "51-52" Southerner. A big help in getting this book out was our sponsor, Mr. Maack. His understanding supervision and friendliness gave pleasure to everyone on the staff. Many hours of his time were spent working on the "51-52" Southerner. My appreciation also goes to Mr. Harwood as well as the photography staff for their time and cooperation, to Mrs. Garnet Pearson, literary sponsor, to Miss Martha Schroeder, business sponsor, to Mrs. Alice Seehee, advertising sponsor, and to Mr. Walter Stevens, treasurer. Thanks to all for a job well done. I am happy I was able to work with Lonn and Max Wheelwright, and with Bud Parkin, commercial artist, and Greta Aa of the Wheelwright Lithographing Co. Also my thanks go to Mr. Peter Ecker and the staff at Eckers Photography Co. Last, but not least, I appreciate the fine spirit and cooperation of the faculty, the student body, Miss Dyer and Mr. Backman. I hope that not only from September to June but also in the future this Southerner will hold memories for you in print and in pictures.

Knibbe's record-shattering Cubs proved themselves champions in every sense of the word as they trampled their opponents underfoot on their road to fame and glory. Breaking nearly every team scoring record in the books, Knibbe's Klassy Kubs really romped over their out classed opponents as they copped the Class A crown with three consecutive wins. South's unbeaten journey of six games is the most enviable record in the state.

lithographed COVERS of DISTINCTION

We think you'll agree that your 1952 Southerner's full-color cover adds additional distinction to a handsome yearbook — produced in its entirety by offset lithography. The photograph of Delicate Arch was lithographed on cloth in four colors from plates and separations made in our Salt Lake City plant.

If at any time you are considering the production of a yearbook, book, folder, or pamphlet — let us show you how offset lithography can give you exciting color, flexibility of design, and faithful reproduction at reasonable cost.

Dear Father,

Well my favorite school friend our school days are drawing to a close. I've had so much fun with you by my side. School just wouldn't be school without you. And life won't be life unless you continue to stay around. You can't forget a girl like me, especially since you know more about me than I do, so call me up now that it's free. We'll stick together through thick & thin & when you pitch me & orange from Pat I'll pitch you a head of lettuce from Hoover.
When my butler answers your call I'll be sure he allows you to come in. Don't worry too much about Lu ti du, things just have a way of working out. And don't wind up with Haddon or when I pitch lettuce you'll pitch rubies. Holly, I hate to see these last days come in a way. If we're gone to school this year, — I don't know where it

Hi ya Esther,
 Boy, me Esther
 are really gone
 people, huh?
 Or should I speak for myself. Really tho, it's nice to see someone else with that label. See ya round - hope (Esther) see I'm giving myself a little rest all the while. There's nothing me I don't want to leave, because you're continuing through the morning. I hope our friendship is still going for our graduation & we have a nice hope every thing especially talking in all of good laughs &
 the we have really had
 think we would make it.
 school days are over, but, boy I didn't want to! But I do the end of the! Now are you it all.

P.S. See you Friday. Have fun
 I could have asked you to the dance. Ha. Ha.
